

In my role as General Secretary and Chair of the Presidential Search Committee, I am delighted to inform you that, further to the recent Presidential Search ballot, which closed on the 27th February 2017 and, as per the Society's Regulations (4.3 (v)) was scrutinised by two of the Society's Fellows on the 6th March 2017, Sir Emyr Jones Parry has been re-elected as President of the Learned Society of Wales for a second term of office (until the end of the Society's Annual General Meeting to be held in May 2020).

In the ballot, there was overwhelming support for his re-election and under his strong leadership as President of the Society we shall look forward to continuing to work with him over the next three years to further enhance and strengthen the Society's mission of 'celebrating scholarship and serving the nation'.

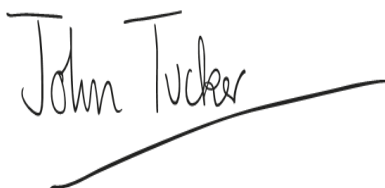

For information, a copy of the Scrutineer's report can be viewed in the members area of the website.

Yn fy rôl fel Ysgrifennydd Cyffredinol a Chadeirydd y Pwyllgor Ceisio Llywydd, mae'n bleser gennyf eich hysbysu, ymhellach i'r bleidlais Ceisio Llywydd diweddar, a gaeodd ar 27 Chwefror 2017 ac a'i harchwiliwyd gan ddau o Gymrodryr y Gymdeithas ar 6 Mawrth 2017, yn unol â Rheoliadau'r Gymdeithas (4.3 (v)) bod Syr Emyr Jones Parry wedi ei ail-ethol yn Llywydd Cymdeithas Ddysgedig Cymru am ail dymor yn y swydd (tan ddiwedd Cyfarfod Cyffredinol Blyneddol y Gymdeithas i'w gynnal ym mis Mai 2020).

Yn y bleidlais, roedd cefnogaeth ysgubol ar gyfer ei ail-ethol ac o dan ei arweinyddiaeth gref fel Llywydd y Gymdeithas byddwn yn edrych ymlaen at barhau i weithio gydag ef dros y tair blynedd nesaf i wella a chryfhau ymhellach genhadaeth y Gymdeithas o 'ddathlu ysgolheictod a gwasanaethu'r genedl'.

Er gwybodaeth, gellir gweld copi o adroddiad yr Archwilwyr ar wefan y Gymdeithas yn yr ardal aelodau.
